DO I NEED FIRE RETARDANT CURTAINS?

If you require curtains for a non-domestic establishment or a residential home, the short answer is yes. This means that any property within the education, healthcare, hospitality and leisure sectors will need fire retardant curtains. This includes any residences where the curtains are provided by the landlord e.g. rental properties and Airbnbs. The curtains must adhere to the BS5867 regulations that state window dressings within public areas in the UK must be made of fire retardant fabric or chemically treated to be fire resistant. If you're unsure of whether your establishment falls under this bracket then our team of experts can assist in recommending the perfect curtains for you.
